to the obscuring and ambiguity of the platform of the two major parties. We are not opposed to private property; we want more of it," Thomas said.

The treaty recently signed by the great nations of the world in an effort to outlaw war was designated as ridiculous by Thomas when he said that every nation is increasing its army and building greater sea and air fleets preparing for war.

"The great nations can not outlaw war and at the same time pile up rearmament in the small nations without escaping the ultimate punishment of imperialism," he stated.

The United States is unable to catch a bandit in Chicago, but send the marines down to Nicaragua to catch a bandit there, according to Thomas. We are unable to obtain an honest election in New York City, but we propose to force an honest election upon the people of Nicaragua, he said.

Urges Government Ownership.

Praising the success of state ownership of public utilities was advocated by Thomas. The policy of the major parties in supporting two such widely separated public utility developments as Boulder Dam and Muscle Shoals was condemned by Thomas, however. Endorsed by territory covered by corporations in the power trust, these projects would be killed off early, he said.

"The men who finance the major parties own them," Thomas said. "The corporations insure in both companies and are successful no matter what happens. There can be little difference between their attitudes upon campaign issues."

and speaking rapidly.

It was estimated at mid morning that the Zep was slightly more than 2000 miles from New York. After passing the Azores at 10 o'clock last night, Greenwich mean time, or 5 p. m. Marlon time, the course was slightly altered. The weather was good and a shipwreck reported immediately a veritable flood of congratulatory messages to the dirigible.

Weather observers said there were indications of bad weather between Germany and New York which might delay the ship.

Heard Zeppelin's Radio

The naval radio station at Lakehurst early today heard the Zeppelin in wireless conversation with an unknown ship. It was believed that the Zeppelin gave her position as 38 west 53 north, but when the naval station communicated with the Zeppelin station in Nova Scotia it was learned that the position given by the German ship was really 38 west and 52 north.

After passing over the Madeira Islands shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon (Greenwich mean time) or 9 a. m. Marlon time, Commander Hugo Eckener, director of the flight, turned his ship in a north westerly direction and set forth across the Atlantic.

It was a fitting occasion for the start on this epic voyage for it was the anniversary of the discovery of America by Columbus in 1492. But while Columbus journeyed in tiny shallop requiring months to cross the Atlantic, the Zeppelin was traveling through the clouds at express train speed.

The general belief on both sides of the Atlantic is that the flight will be a success and that it will arouse fresh interest in dirigibles as swift passenger and mail carrier. The airworthiness of the Graf was shown by the fact that she bucked headwinds for 500 miles after starting her historic journey. Later with 155 hour-ship she traveled at a speed of about 60 to 55 miles an hour. After leaving Funchal, Madeira, aided by a steady tail wind, the dirigible worked her speed up to nearly 80 miles an hour. This was maintained steadily for hours until well out over the Atlantic.

The Zeppelin has kept in constant wireless communication with ships, reporting "All is well on board" intervals. Weather bulletins were transmitted to the air liner enabling Commander Eckener to change his course at will to avoid squalls and gusts of windy rainstorms.

Republican opponent, however, Water power is a warm issue in Tennessee. Just across the border lies the great Muscle Shoals project, the development and disposition of which means much to Tennessee industry.

He declared he had searched Mr. Hoover's speech in vain for some intimation of Muscle Shoals.

"It was as what he did say. He said 'There are local individuals or corporations who are interested in the government must enter the business field as a by-product of some great major purpose such as improvement in navigation, flood control, scientific research or national defense.'"

"Anybody that can make anything out of that is entitled to have it. 'I don't know what he can mean by 'by-product' unless it is the generation of power. In another part of his speech he said that violations of the public interest in federal lands or corporations should not induce us to abandon progressive principles and substitute in their place deadly and destructive doctrines.'"

"I would like to know what Mr. Hoover means by 'deadly and destructive doctrines.' Does he refer to government ownership and control of water power sites? If so, why not say it? What is to be gained by clothing it in language that the man on the street is unable to understand?"

Would Define Issue

"If public ownership and public development of water power really is a destructive doctrine? If so, why not say it? Mr. Hoover come right out and say 'I believe in leasing, or selling or in disposing of, to private corporations for private profit, the great water power resources that belong to all the people.'"

"That would define the issue. But why evade it? Why conceal it behind a wall of high-sounding phrases that leave in the minds of so many thousands of our people the element of doubt as to his exact position?"

Since his speech, Governor Smith said, Mr. Hoover himself had issued two statements trying to explain his position on Muscle Shoals, "and, if anything at all his position has become more involved."

For himself, the Democratic nominee reiterated his policy of public ownership and public control of water power development.

Governor Smith went into the prohibition issue with the same vigor as he did in Milwaukee.

Again he described enforcement conditions as farcical, and again he proposed to restore control of this question to the states themselves, subject to congressional limitation on the alcoholic content of beverages.

For himself, the Democratic nominee reiterated his policy of public ownership and public control of water power development.

Governor Smith went into the prohibition issue with the same vigor as he did in Milwaukee.

BORAH GOES SOUTH TO TRAIL AL SMITH

Senator Will Make Particularly Determined
Attack in Texas

Washington, Oct. 12—In the first move of the Republican party to trail the solid south, Sen.
William Borah, of Idaho, will leave tomorrow to trail the solid south, through Virginia, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Texas.

Borah's headquarters announced that the senator would make a particularly determined attack against the Democrats in Texas, speaking at Dallas
Oct. 22 and from that time would travel back to New York City for the election.

Borah was personally delegated by the Republican party to trail the solid south. This action was taken after Thomas B. Loe, and a dozen of Texas Democrats who have climbed off the Smith vehicle, informed Borah that his appearance in Texas would mean the Lone Star

State in the Republican column in November.

Borah at Richmond
Borah told the committee that if he couldn't speak in Texas he would send one of the leaders of his flock there, Senator Borah. The action in detailing Borah for the job is taken to mean that Borah will not speak in Texas, although further developments as the campaign takes shape may change the situation.

Borah opens his tour Monday night at Richmond, Va., and he will successively speak at Charlotte, Kenneth, and Louisville before he goes to Texas.

"This is the first national effort staged by the Republican party to trail the solid south," Borah said. "I am entirely agreeable to this fight and am going south because Mr. Hoover asked me to go."

Borah, according to Republican leaders, is proving one of the most effective speakers in the Hoover camp and great satisfaction was expressed at his willingness to invade the "solid south."

Statements That Have Weight.

We have an often come upon professional statements in type to the effect that whiskey is practically an essential in the practice of medicine that a view which carries an intimation to the contrary is somewhat surprising, especially so when it comes from the head of a professional organization.

In his inaugural address as president of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Frank H. Martin, of Chicago, asserted before the 1,500 delegates and guests assembled in Boston for the annual clinical congress of the college that "more than two-thirds of our people morally and spiritually favor the eighteenth amendment to the constitution."

Dr. Martin had expressed the belief that, because of many scientific advances in the medical world, the extension of longevity from an average of fifty-eight years in 1929 will rise to sixty-five years in 1930, the extension of middle life to an average of eighty years by 1935 and an extension of average old age limit, at present about ninety years, to an undetermined average, conservatively to 100 or 110 years, by 1940 or 1950, and made the prediction that the profession was on the eve of solving certain problems of which the solutions are at present unknown; problems "which pertain to the degenerative diseases that cause unfortunate and unexpected tragedies in middle life."

Then it was that the doctor created a stir by digressing from the purely medical and surgical field to the prohibition amendment, especially keen interest being manifested by a score or more of prominent surgeons from foreign countries who were seated on the platform.

"In spite of the injudicious administration of the eighteenth amendment, which has resulted in an orgy of law-breaking, of self-defense and ridicule on the part of the other one-third of our citizens," the doctor said following his introductory reference to the amendment, "the foundation has been laid for a demonstration of race betterment and extension of life that will astonish the world."

Considering the sequence of the doctor's utterances and the conclusion reached by him, that the "foundation has been laid for a demonstration of race betterment and extension of life that will astonish the world."

It is fair to assume that a great organization would not select for its head one unworthy of the position. It is fair to assume that one selected for the presidency of such an organization stands high in his profession and naturally would weigh carefully what he is about to say. Thus it is that we must pay more attention to what such a doctor may say before a gathering of his professional brethren than we would to the utterances of this or that practitioner in a newspaper interview.

The statements of the president of the American College of Surgeons should carry weight.

This can be said for Peck, Davis and Peck, "the boys" who were given $203,037 by Democratic Treasurer Gerard; they may be trusted to know what to do with it.

It is now stated that Joe Salts, for whom the Chicago police had been hunting for 111 days, led the party of gangsters which drove through the streets of that city and attempted to wipe out Spike O'Donnell, another gangster, by a machine gun attack. Possibly the police up there have been expecting the Hon. Mr. Salts in show up attached to a big balloon and accompanied by a brass band.

A Seattle who tells of the fluffing of traces of a civilization in the Far North greatly superior to the present Eskimoes. We're not sure that discoveries along that line can not be found over much of all the western hemisphere.

The French government has discovered that Russia has established an elaborate spy system throughout France. What else was to have been expected when France recognized soviet Russia? What else could be expected here in the United States when we in follow the urging of the pacifists and all the various disloyal organizations and commit the same mistake?

A staff writer of the Cleveland Plain Dealer tells the readers of his paper that Maryland is in doubt, with Hoover having the advantage. Naturally, Mr. Hoover is not suffering the handicap of a Senator William Cabell Bruce and a Governor Ritchie in that state.

Efforts are now being made by those interested in it, to lift the reclusiveness on the Albany baseball pool which we were assured did not exist. Really, there must have been a little gambling in the New York state capital even though it did escape the notice of that state's executive.

In denouncing the statement of former Senator Haunsbrough, of North Dakota, that Candidate Hoover owned millions of acres of oil lands in Colombia and Mexico, Mr. Raskob stated that the former senator probably didn't get his telegram, telling Haunsbrough that the statement was untrue, in time to prevent its utterance in Minneapolis. The former senator, however, admitted that he did get the telegram of Henry J. Allen, publicity director of the Republican national committee, to the same effect. But after all, what's a little thing like truth to the North Dakotans?

Superintendent Mason must decide for himself whether he can afford to leave a city so unanimously appreciative of his qualifications and his personality, or whether he can afford to pass up an opportunity, if it comes to him, of operating in a field of much larger possibilities. We may leave that part of the situation to him.

But the business men of Marion, the fathers and mothers, the members of the school board who represent all of us in the immediate premises, should leave absolutely no stone unturned to place Jesse Mason in such position that he will find it difficult to exchange his Marion relationships for those of an even larger city—no even four times the size of Marion.

Two thousand Nobraskans were making a loving fight against a prairie fire near Clearwater when a heavy rainfall extinguished it. Here we have a case of real blown-in-the-horn farm relief.

An Akron woman has been given a jail sentence of sixty days for driving a motor car while intoxicated, and the sentence wasn't suspended, either. Somewhat different from the customary slap on the wrist.

Reports filed with the house education expenditures committee show that the Democratic national committee has given George N. Peck, Chester C. Davis and Walton Peck, leading the McNary-Haunsbrough, $203,037 to finance their "independent" campaign for Governor Smith. Just how "independent" is the support purchased at the expenditure of over $200,000?

Candidate Truax might make a hit with the agriculturists by pledging never again to repeat his performance of unloading a network of hard-surfaced roads upon them and driving them into the bankruptcy courts.

Mrs. Willebrandt's speeches have brought threats to bomb the home of her parents in Los Angeles, and Kathleen Norris, the novelist, has received reported warnings not to attempt to speak there in behalf of Candidate Hoover. The level of the present campaign, it is apparent, is hardly on so high lines as predicted before it opened.

"Mike, the Pipe" Shinkman drew a life sentence for killing Philip "Finny" Face. Carry up in Cleveland. To what in this country coming anyway when a gentlemanly gangster can not kill a cat hanger on without being committed to prison for it?

When asked why a flag had been substituted on the ballots for the coming election for the picture of the late President Wilson, which has handed the Democratic ticket in Michigan for eight years, Secretary Giles Kavalough, of the Democratic state committee explained: "A lot of people thought they were voting for Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson and Lincoln was getting the most of the votes." Democracy can hardly be blamed for anything like that in the face of a situation like that.

A Civic Asset.

Humor is not fact, but the fact that there is humor is often significantly important. Accordingly a newspaper sometimes, not always, becomes privileged to recognize humor and treat it as a potential fact. We refer to the rumor that Superintendent of Schools Jesse Mason, highly capable school executive, is being sought by another city offering a larger field.

This newspaper has not been remiss in singling Superintendent Mason's praises. He means more to Marion than perhaps any of us fully realize. He has built up a fine school organization and has developed a splendid school program for the future of Marion. More than that, he has built in all of us who have come into this town or business contact with him such a high regard that Marion can rely upon to lose him. His influence over school children is beyond question. His straightforwardness in all his dealings in both school and civic matters has been an example to many of us who have exhibited a less intelligent activity in those affairs.

Superintendent Mason must decide for himself whether he can afford to leave a city so unanimously appreciative of his qualifications and his personality, or whether he can afford to pass up an opportunity, if it comes to him, of operating in a field of much larger possibilities. We may leave that part of the situation to him.

But the business men of Marion, the fathers and mothers, the members of the school board who represent all of us in the immediate premises, should leave absolutely no stone unturned to place Jesse Mason in such position that he will find it difficult to exchange his Marion relationships for those of an even larger city—no even four times the size of Marion.

Two thousand Nobraskans were making a loving fight against a prairie fire near Clearwater when a heavy rainfall extinguished it. Here we have a case of real blown-in-the-horn farm relief.

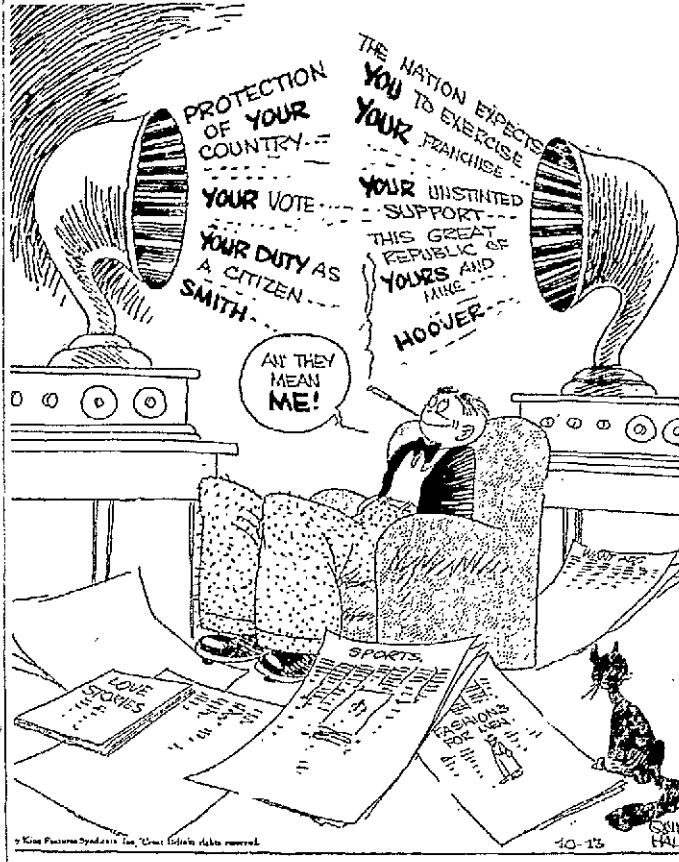

An Akron woman has been given a jail sentence of sixty days for driving a motor car while intoxicated, and the sentence wasn't suspended, either. Somewhat different from the customary slap on the wrist.

Reports filed with the house education expenditures committee show that the Democratic national committee has given George N. Peck, Chester C. Davis and Walton Peck, leading the McNary-Haunsbrough, $203,037 to finance their "independent" campaign for Governor Smith. Just how "independent" is the support purchased at the expenditure of over $200,000?

Candidate Truax might make a hit with the agriculturists by pledging never again to repeat his performance of unloading a network of hard-surfaced roads upon them and driving them into the bankruptcy courts.

Mrs. Willebrandt's speeches have brought threats to bomb the home of her parents in Los Angeles, and Kathleen Norris, the novelist, has received reported warnings not to attempt to speak there in behalf of Candidate Hoover. The level of the present campaign, it is apparent, is hardly on so high lines as predicted before it opened.

Anthrax Germs in Bristles.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, D. D.

Anthrax is a serious disease which first shows itself as a red spot on the skin. In due course, what seemed like a simple skin lesion, becomes a black spot with a ring of tiny blisters surrounding it. Beyond this ring is a bright red circle and next comes an area of swollen tissue.

The temperature may go to 101 or 102 degrees. In a favorable case it disappears in about ten days. Unfortunately not every case is a favorable one. As a matter of fact, in a series of cases reported by the New York City health department, thirty-one per cent proved fatal.

Any disease which carries off one-third of the victims is a disease to be dreaded. Any disease that can take your life within three or four days of its attack is terrible indeed. That is what happens in anthrax.

The common gateway of entrance of the anthrax germ is through the skin. Any slight cut or abrasion affords the anthrax germ lodgment and the infection takes place. It has even been proved that germs which on intact skin can pass through the hair follicles.

Anthrax originates in animals and through their hides it reaches man. There are two chief sources of infection from this dread disease. The first is animal hair and articles made from animal hair, such as shaving brushes. The second is animal skins, hides, furs and articles from them.

Regarding this matter there is an interesting statement made recently by a prominent health official: "Many thousands of brushes, however, were made in the smaller factories under very unsanitary conditions, throughout the country, thus distributing a large number of contaminated brushes which later infected a large number of persons. One factory is known to have made more than ten carloads of these brushes, and the average occasioned by such must have been enormous."

As one knows when or where the next case of anthrax will appear. Unfortunately, the spores of the disease are extremely difficult to kill, and left to themselves, will retain life for many years, indefinitely, in fact. So long as these particular brushes are in existence the menace will be with us.

There is an old saying that "a gentleman shaves himself every morning." There is a gentleman who does not do this, of course, I do believe that if you desire to feel yourself like a gentleman, you will not permit your face to be shaved with the neighborhood utensils. You will find a better way to prepare the face, whether you shave every day or once a week.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

J. Q. Q.—Is there a cure for psoriasis, and is it a blood or skin condition?

A.—This depends upon the seriousness of the trouble and the length of time it has persisted. It is a skin disease. Careful attention to the diet should bring about improvement. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. F. Q.—What will take off surplus fat on the legs between knee and ankle.

A.—Exercise—brisk walking, running, climbing, dancing—should all be helpful in this instance.

W. A. Q.—What will cause me to perspire? I do all kinds of work and although my face gets very red and I feel very warm, I do not perspire, and feel that if I did I would feel better.

A.—I would suggest that you have your blood pressure taken—without examination it would be difficult to prescribe for you.—Copyright, 1928, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dinner Stories.

"Are you in favor of prohibition?"

"Every time," answered Uncle Bill Bottletop.

"Do you never take a drink?"

"Yes, but always with remorse. I'm waiting to see if prohibition can't find a way to stop me."

"What's this?" asked Mr. Chingling.

"It's a puzzle," answered the newstand man. "What the hell is it?"

"I can't use it. I thought maybe it was a new road map with all the detours marked in."

"Fow men," said Mr. Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "Are so idle as to study public benefit at the risk of private fortune."

As the old lady strolled through the park two arching confound her.

"Dear, dear!" smiled the old lady. "And what will he do—will he castrate?"

"Naw," replied the lad with a look of contempt. "He won't do no cheap imitations of that sort. He'll eat a worm."

Editorial Comment.

NOT STICKING TO THEIR LAST.

American campaign chairmen are supposed to be men of action, not speech. The theory of their selection is that they will organize the forces behind their particular presidential candidate and will devise shrewd means to attract others.

Usually politicians are chosen, famed for their knowledge of the ways of the electorate, capable of raising the funds and more than content to leave the oratory to others. When Dr. Work was translated from the cabinet he was supposed to be a sufficient politician of an effective type.

When Mr. Haskob was taken from the automobile business, he was represented as a mere money-raiser and a broken light for wavering business men. Nothing was said about either man turning pamphleteer.

Dr. Work, however, had no sooner been installed at Washington than he was seized by ecstasies of oratory and eloquence. And Mr. Haskob turned orator and writer. This week the Democratic chairman has resumed three columns of newspaper space, and his Republican confederate, in a dreary and foolish debate about the tariff.

The American people are interested in the views of the principals. If Governor Smith and Mr. Hoover debate with each other—whether Mr. Hoover admits it is a debate or not—the public will attend. But what are Dr. Work and Mr. Haskob running for?

And who cares what they think about political issues? Whoever conducts his campaign successfully will go down as fit for the job, and the voters will get such appreciation as the results seem to justify. But their tariff debate is about as important to the electorate as booing down a rain-barrel.

Who custom has decreed an outlet for national children in preparing foolish vote tables and denying each other's prophecies. That leaves plenty of time to do the day's work and gives the candidate a chance to be heard.—New York Times.

LIGHTS ON AIRSHIPS.

Lack of sufficient running lights on the monster dirigible, Los Angeles, has resulted in a complaint being filed with the navy department regarding the menace to night-flying air mail pilots.

Harold P. Pictorial, president of the aviation company which operates the air mail route between New York and Atlanta on a night schedule, has reported to the department that if it had not been for the fact that one of his pilots picked the exact moment that he was headed directly for the invisible ship to test his landing lights there would have been a fatal collision. Other pilots, it is said, have told of similar experiences and lucky escapes. Despite the justice of the complaint and the seriousness of the situation, no really has been received.

The navy department should hasten to take action on this matter. It can not afford to countenance the flying of its big dirigible in a manner that is potentially dangerous to other users of the air. Everything on the ground, on the sea and in the sky should be sufficiently lighted at night to avoid the dangers of collision, and the United States navy should certainly take the lead in equipping the Los Angeles with enough lights to protect the fliers of another branch of the government.

Airplanes and airships will probably never become as numerous as automobiles, but with the steady increase of flying machines the thought has probably occurred to every one that the future congestion in the air will be tantamount to wholesale loss of life. At present the night flier's chief worry is that he will be enveloped by fog and that his way will stop. He thinks little about the possibility of collision. But when there are hundreds and perhaps thousands of others shooting through the ether at high speed the danger of crashes will become acute. These problems, however, are something for future generations to solve. In the meantime the navy department should comply with the reasonable request that its big ship be adequately lighted to avert accidents.—Washington Star.

As a monument to the white pine industry which played such an important part in the early history of Wisconsin the city of Eau Claire has overshadowed a mammoth white pine log in a covered enclosure in one of the city parks.

Lithuania, which has for some time been involved in a quarrel with Poland over the latter's forcible annexation of Vilna, is a republic of 6,000,000 inhabitants, and geographically larger than Switzerland and Denmark combined. In the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries it was the largest state in Europe.

Wherefore the Lord said: Forasmuch as this people draw near Me with their mouth and with their lips do honour Me, but have removed their hearts far from Me.

I will proceed to do marvelous work among this people, for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid.—Isaiah 29:13 and 14.

Prayer.—Lord, we would seek Thee with our whole heart.

Just Things

PIGS IS PIGS
THIS little pig went to market and just because in the confusion of his hounds he barked in the rays of an ultra violet ray machine he brought many more bright and shining diamonds to his master's coffers than did the little pig whose quarters were not quite so up-to-date. At least that's the report on a recent experiment. This little pig, along with 21 of his little brothers and sisters were given treatments with ultra violet light for three minutes daily when they were 30 to 12 weeks old. The time of treatment being gradually increased to twenty minutes. This was maintained until they were sold at the age of 20 weeks. Twelve similar pigs were kept as controls without light treatment. All were sold on the same day and the twelve little "treated" pigs brought gold and gold more in price. I can not imagine that these dozen little electrically lighted pigs were sold to market in the same way with their less fortunate cousins and friends, can you?

THEN AND NOW

It is probably a good thing that in the good old days that some are wont to think that it was the mode for a member of the fair sex to don her best bib and tucker and sit in the parlor and sew a fine seam. Imagine what a mess there would be should the bells of a generation or two ago choose to take in a football game or two this season. Of course the old-fashioned bustle would make a fine foot-warmer for the person sitting in the tier above her, but picture for yourself the fate of it should the game was exciting. And think of the bruised and bleeding eyes that would wind their way homeward after contact with those wild brains, or more deadly still with one or more of those wicked spear-like bejeweled hatpins? And putting the horse after the cart, how would she ever get to the game in the first place, for where would she park all this luxury in the buses one sees helping themselves to the game nowadays?

FIRST AID

If you would be practical I am told, you will not throw away the old summer felt cap but will park it away for first aid. When the windy winds do blow, it's a regular little machine when put into strips to keep out the cold in lieu of wrappings; they make excellent wrappings for that, does or windows that rattle; they're all the better when glued to the bases of lamps to prevent scratching, and they have ever so many more good qualities.

Veteran Bargain Driver Not in It with Present Day Political Professionals, Will Rogers Says

By WILL ROGERS

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what little I hear whispered. The whole thing is about to overshadow the machine matter. Don't think this new type of campaigning is confined to one side, people of both democratic and republican persuasion.

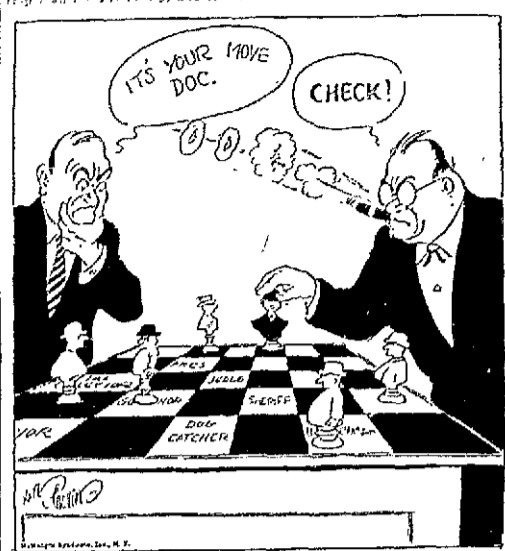

There is some great moves going on in politics. There was one happened here in New York a couple of weeks ago. This fellow Roosevelt is a very nice fellow even if he is a Democrat and everybody likes him up State as well as in New York City. Well, Al Smith wanted him to run on the Democratic ticket for governor to replace Smith. Now Roosevelt didn't want to run for his health is bad and it is generally thought that the day is good.

Now also get this situation. The fellow that the Republicans are running on their party for Governor is a very fine and well liked man in Jewish gentleman named Outinger, and here was what the Democrats were afraid of that all the Jewish folks would naturally string with the Republican Outinger and might vote the whole Republican ticket. Now his going to be great to watch and see if this don't happen. Roosevelt don't want the thing, so the Democrats will vote for Outinger the Republican for Governor, in exchange for all the Jewish support for Smith for President, and the plan will be to elect Smith and Outinger Governor.

Watch What Happens

Now also get this situation. The fellow that the Republicans are running on their party for Governor is a very fine and well liked man in Jewish gentleman named Outinger, and here was what the Democrats were afraid of that all the Jewish folks would naturally string with the Republican Outinger and might vote the whole Republican ticket. Now his going to be great to watch and see if this don't happen. Roosevelt don't want the thing, so the Democrats will vote for Outinger the Republican for Governor, in exchange for all the Jewish support for Smith for President, and the plan will be to elect Smith and Outinger Governor.

That's really a violation of the principle of trade law and those Gays just work their heads all around to get out of the other side. What difference does it make who is in, they are all about alike. The whole business is taken too seriously. We never have a man as crooked as that.

They move these blocks around

It wouldn't be losing anything, for he don't want it, and he will do anything to get Smith in, for he has always been his most consistent supporter. If Smith runs away ahead of Roosevelt and Outinger runs second to Smith you will know that's what was pulled.

These politicians would make old David Harum go and learn up his game. It never gave the day he could pull off except like these babies can now. Two-thirds of the men in politics are not "Free born Americans of lawful age and a fair break in intelligence" as the constitution calls for. They were born but not free, they are of age but it wasn't lawful, and the break they got in intelligence was not fair.

On the Chores

What I mean is they are just a lot of pawns. The babies to their party and mess around and do all the chores, and do all the dog robbing that is handed out to them to do, then a bunch of men meet in a room and start moving these blocks around. The poor old don't know if he is to be advanced from an alderman to senator or sent back to garbage inspector. These babies at the head move him and he goes and does it or gets out. Maybe he has done his work just as well as some of the rest, but he just wasn't the type they had picked to advance. Then if he is one that they advance it is somebody that they know the higher they put him the more they can control him.

An Independent guy, with no ties at all couldn't not only get to first base but he couldn't get a foul out three high ups. There is a limited thing to single you out for promotion in a party politics besides ability.

So he just has to hang around and see every election or nomination what they will do for him. They might decide to pitch him a bone enough to live on till they meet again and start kicking him from kicking over and showing any inclination that he is a "Free born Citizen." All of this is in the "Organism" what is it all about? and what is it for, what good does it do you to all hand together outside of just keeping the job in your own hands? Where does your justice and "Free born" come in on that when one gang organizes to keep the others from work-

Always Have It

But we got it and we will always have it, there is nothing else that they could get that makes publicists out of, and they think they are running the country and are directly responsible for what little we may have to eat, so we won't put 'em out of business, they are a harmless sort, and really at heart mean well, and I think at heart most of 'em are really wise to themselves, but it's gone so far they can't admit it.

More Than 900 Women Attend Final Session of Annual Cooking School

Largest Audience of Four-Day Program Hears Mrs. Crabtree Discuss "A New Day"; Nursery Enrollment of 91 Also Establishes High Mark for Week

Bringing to a close one of the most entertaining and instructive weeks ever provided for Marion housewives, Mrs. Edna Higgs Crabtree presented the fourth and concluding lecture of The Star's annual cooking school yesterday afternoon at the Star auditorium.

An enthusiastic audience of more than 900 women heard the lecture on the subject, "A New Day." Yesterday's was the largest attendance of any afternoon of the four-day cooking school. The nursery, arranged at the rear of the auditorium by Mrs. G. E. Waddell, yesterday afternoon entertained 91 children, the previous record of the week having been 75.

In a short talk Raymond F. Fletcher, advertising manager of The Star, assured Marion housewives of a similar or even better cooking school in the fall of next year.

Modern Advantages

Mrs. Crabtree began her lecture by discussing just a few of the modern conveniences which have ushered in "a new day" for homemakers of America.

"If you are not a better woman than your mother, you are not as good a woman," Mrs. Crabtree said, "for you haven't taken advantage of the wonderful opportunities of the new day—you haven't advanced at all."

"We have the same problems to meet as mother, the same duties to perform, but we have new sources to conserve our energies and strength," Mrs. Crabtree continued. "The new day has brought business and political economy to women and they have made rapid strides in both. With the advantages of modern machinery to conserve her time and strength, this modern woman has become independent—she does her work with her head rather than her hands—and finds ample time for reading, the interchange of ideas, and for recreation, that thing so essential to the woman who desires good health and peace."

Kitchen Suggestions

A few of the suggestions offered by Mrs. Crabtree for the modern woman included a kitchen, not larger than 9 by 12, colorful, well-lighted, when no shortening has been added to the batter."

During the cooking demonstration, Mrs. Crabtree presented recipes for the following: featherweight cake, fluffy icing, pineapple pudding, lemon sauce, spicy spinach roast, jellied tomatoes and beef, a purple trade, and potato pascagale.

SIAMESE TWINS TO APPEAR IN MARION

Booked for Engagement at Grand Theater in Near Future

Marion theaters are to be given the opportunity of seeing one or two, as you prefer, of the world's most remarkable freaks, according to announcement made today.

The opportunity will come with presentation of the famous San Antonio Siamese twins at the Grand Theater in several weeks.

The girls are termed "Siamese twins" because they were born joined together, as were the first Siamese twins of this kind, born in Siam. Except for being joined, the two girls are individual, normal human beings, popular for their talent and charm as well as for the strange characteristic which marks them as different from others of the human race.

Traveling with the girls are a company of three who will present a novel entertainment, featuring the twins, known as Daisy and Violet Hilton, in plays, musical numbers and short bits of various nature.

The Siamese twins should hardly be called "freaks" for they are merely an unusual type of twins. Every pair of individual twins has had a single womb and joined at some time through the same opening in the connection as did twins who are born joined together. Only in normal cases the separation is complete before birth.

In Daisy and Violet Hilton the complete separation before birth was retarded in some way. They were born with a spinal and thoracic junction at the base of the spine, and after high surgery makes no further separation.

NAMES FOR TWINS

"Brook" and "Washington" Suggested for New Arrivals

ADAMSON BAIN, still in his role as Marion's best-known children's friend, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Starnhart and Adams sts., this morning to suggest names worthy of the Smith twin boys, reported to be the first negro twins ever born in Marion.

The babies were born Sept. 24, and Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been unable to decide upon suitable names.

Mr. Bain suggested that one be named "Brook" and the other "Washington." Mr. Bain is so enthusiastic in the choice of his names that if they are accepted, he has agreed to deposit $5 in a local bank, to be drawn out when the boys are 21 years old and used for a college education. He hopes that other residents of the city will take up his suggestion and that the bank account will gradually be added to and in time reach an amount where it will mean something to the children's education.

FIRE DESTROYS MARYSVILLE HOME

Loss Estimated at $5,000 on Property Owned by Dr. D. R. Griffith

Marysville, Oct. 12.—Fire, believed to have started when an electric light molder blew out yesterday noon completely destroyed the home and furniture of Dr. D. R. Griffith here.

One part of the house was enveloped in flames when the blaze was discovered and an alarm turned in. Mrs. Griffith, who was visiting nearby at the home of her father, O. S. Middleworth, first saw the fire.

When the fire department arrived on the scene the blaze was beyond possible control. Water was turned on the neighboring home of Mrs. Anna Lark when the flames ran fire to it also.

Damage was estimated at approximately $5,000. Insurance was carried on the building and furniture but will not cover the entire cost.

CHILD DROWNS

Two-Year-Old Daughter of Dunkirk Couple Falls in Cistern

Kenton, Oct. 12.—Sarah Ellen Hassen, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hassen, of Dunkirk, drowned in a cistern at the Hassen home West Patterson st. three Friday.

The mother had just drawn some water and went into the house after covering the cistern. Shortly afterward she came out and called for her daughter who had been playing in the yard. Unable to find her, Mrs. Hassen called that this cover was off the cistern and when she went to investigate she saw the body of her child floating on the surface. Screaming frantically, she picked up a rake, and drew the body to the surface. The mother today is prostrate with grief. Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hassen, two brothers, Worth and Otis and two sister, Viola and Volma, at home.

TO MAKE SURVEY

Plans Under Way for Water System at Ashby

Ashby, Oct. 12.—Plans have been authorized by the city council for a survey of the village and the preparation of specifications and cost estimates of a municipal water works system here.

The action was taken at a special meeting of the council at which time C. L. Folsom, Ohio manager of the Cole-Moore Co., of South Bend, Ind., met with the members.

Proposed plans call for the laying of a water main to the village and tunnel to the village which would own the pipe lines. The installation of a water system here would effect a reclassification and reduction in fire insurance rates.

WOMEN OPEN FIGHT AT CHURCH MEETING

Opposition Expected To Develop to Recommendation of Bishops

Washington, Oct. 12.—Episcopal women, here for the triennial convention, started a spiritual fight today for their ecclesiastical rights.

The house of bishops recommended to the house of deputies, hearing about the same relation to the episcopal church as the house of representatives has to the senate, that a committee on an "order of discharges" be established.

The committee was to report on whether, in its opinion, discharges should be put on an even basis with deaths, without the right of ordination in the priesthood. If the committee is established, virtually all chance of accomplishing this during the present convention will be lost to the women.

However, the house of deputies, which is not particularly noted for its harmony with the upper house, may disagree. Certainly opposition is expected to develop.

Fear Only Stepping Stone
The church women argue that, with equal title and as important work, the status of a deaconess should be equal to that of a deacon, but many of the clergymen fear that this would be but a stepping stone to the priesthood.

With only a half-day session before it today, the convention is not expected to take positive action in this matter or to finally complete ratification of the book of common prayer, on which there appears to be a considerable rift between the two branches of the church.

Meanwhile, the foreign missionary problems of the church have become more acute with the open defiance of the Japanese government's order that religious "aliens" be taught students in any school in that country.

Though there are many advocates of curtailment of missionary work in Japan at the convention, the champions of even further expansion won a victory when Dr. Robert Johnston of St. John's church here, secured a passage of a motion in the house of deputies endorsing a campaign to raise 1,000,000 for St. Luke's International hospital in Tokio.

Says Proposal "Suicidal"
Dr. Rudolph Bolling Tessler, director of the hospital, referred to the proposed curtailment as "suicidal," styling Japan as the only barrier "between the United States and Russian Bolshevism." He further asserted that Japan is forever pulling our Christians out of the political fire in China.

In spite of the Russian "menace," however, a resolution opposing compulsory military education in schools and colleges, was presented by Bishop Edward J. Parsons of California, and referred to the committee on social service. The resolution contained arguments that military training makes the pliant youth "favorable to reliance on force." It also heartily endorsed the International Court of Justice and the League of Nations.

BUCYRUS—Seized with an attack of indigestion while driving a truck on the Bucyrus-Gallion rd. Thursday, Karl McDaniel, Bucyrus, lost control of the car and crashed through a fence at the J. D. MARION ASSURED PLENTY OF WATER

City Supply Ample Despite Long Dry Spell; Other Places Face Shortage

Despite the extensive period of dry weather this fall there is no danger of a water shortage here so far as Marion Water Co. is concerned, was the assurance given in information today from George Whysall, manager of the water company.

"There is a reserve supply of 6,000,000 gallons on hand at all times. We can supply the city with water for the winter months a day without difficulty," Mr. Whysall said. There has been no shortage of water here since several new wells were put down a number of years ago.

Those in Marion and vicinity who depend on private wells for their water supply are said to be facing a shortage that can be remedied only by a series of heavy rainfalls.

The dry season has diminished the water supply in some sections of the state and there is a probability of a severe shortage. Citizens in the city are being rapidly depleted.

Warnings have been issued to those who obtain their water supply from surface wells to take extra precautions to prevent disease after heavy rains. Bacteria and colic may collect on the ground during a dry period and be washed into the water supply with the first heavy rain. Epidemics often follow a dry period, it is pointed out.

Rumors Of Melon-Cutting Sends Steel Stocks to New High

TRADING ELEMENT FORCES PRICES UP

Money Conditions Easier, Discount Rates Drop

MONTGOMERY WARD LEADS

Expansion Reported in Steel and Motor Car Business

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 13.—(For two days) The trading element in the steel market today, bidding new high prices for all shares available and forcing the stock up to 115. Large blocks of steel were taken out of the market at these prices, the independent steel makers, like Bethlehem and Youngstown also advancing a point or two in consequent buying.

As usual, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck ran away from the pack in the high price specialists. Montgomery Ward jumped an additional 12 points to 294, completing a run of 12 points for the week and 175 points for the current movement, one of the most spectacular in speculative records. Sears Roebuck pushed ahead to 159 3/4 for a new 50-cent gain, and a few of the new cheap specialties were placed in the most favorable position by the pools which are fattening their market ventures.

before the end of the year, lowering of the reserve bank rate, and the fact that the market conditions, hope expansion in steel and motor car business, for an article and all departments of domestic industry constituted Wall Street's principal topics of discussion as an industrial stock market 2 1/2 points in the short session of the market today.

Though U. S. Steel corporation directors disclaim all responsibility for the circulation of the melon-cutting rumors, and some of them repeat the stories as absurd and ridiculous, the trading element in and out of Wall Street rushed in to buy the stock again today, bidding new high prices for all shares available and forcing the stock up to 115. Large blocks of steel were taken out of the market at these prices, the independent steel makers, like Bethlehem and Youngstown also advancing a point or two in consequent buying.
